

Aman Nath | Founder and Chairman, Neemrana Hotels

Aman Nath is a historian by education but from an early age he has painted, written poetry, practiced graphic design and copywriting for several advertising campaigns. He has sold everything from beer and jeans to housing colonies and even India. He has co-written/authored fourteen illustrated books on art, history, architecture, corporate biography and photography, two of which have won National Awards. These are also used as the official gifts of the President and the Prime Minister of India. His book 'Jaipur' was the first Indian book chosen to be marketed internationally by Christie's.

He has just completed Changing Skylines – the corporate and family history of the Shapoorji Pallonji group, one of India's largest building conglomerates.

Aman Nath is involved in the restoration of India's unlisted architectural ruins, now run as the 24 Neemrana 'non-hotel' Hotels, which have won awards from UNESCO, the Indian travel trade industry and National Awards. Aman Nath wrote the catalogue and the publicity campaign for the first Indian contemporary art auction by Sotheby's sponsored by The Times of India for their sesquicentennial celebrations in 1977. That is when Indian art prices first crossed the six-digit mark. He was the curator of Art Today, the gallery of India Today.

As an inveterate traveller – after walking 400 kms to Mount Kailash and sub-Antarctica - he has contributed to several travel magazines.
